Course Overview

Ancient Greek philosophy is not only the basis of the Western and Arabic philosophical traditions, it is also of central importance for understanding Western culture in general, including literature, science, religion, politics, and art.

This course will be devoted to a survey of the central figures of the Ancient Greek tradition from the beginnings among pre-Socratic philosophers up to Plato and Aristotle. After a survey of the poetic-philosophical thought of the most influential pre-Socratic philosophers (Thales, Anaximander, Heraclitus, and Parmenides), we will move on to a close study of selected dialogues of Plato and some of the most important and influential works of Plato's student, Aristotle. The lectures will focus primarily on the metaphysical and political implications of this tradition.

Course Goals

1. To provide a general introduction to the philosophical thought of the Ancient Greek philosophical tradition as well as a survey, analysis and evaluation of many of the key teachings of that tradition;
2. To display the teachings of Ancient Greek philosophy in their own historical and cultural context while at the same time making occasional reference to their impact on contemporary thought;
3. To identify and explain the philosophical vocabulary of the Ancient Greek tradition;
4. To identify and explain key philosophical teachings of the Ancient Greek tradition, particularly in metaphysics, epistemology, and politics;
5. To penetrate some key issues in Ancient Greek philosophy with critical philosophical depth;
6. To provide students with the foundation for further study of Plato and Aristotle and the philosophical tradition that followed;
7. And perhaps more importantly, I hope the course to provide students the opportunity to think deeply about Ancient Greek Philosophy and its importance as a gateway to understanding the essence of Western culture generally.
